

Corporate Philosophy

The Human Being in the Focus

First and foremost, we view every employee, customer, supplier as well as representatives of society, politics, authorities and environment as a human being, with all of his needs, demands and expectations. Mutual acceptance, fairness and appreciation are very important for us.

Close to the Customer

The success of our products and services is directly connected to the realization of needs and expectations of our customers. We specially focus on the fulfillment of the customer's needs regarding technical and temporal matters and the internalization of the 0-error-philosophy.

Thinking and Acting

Our thinking and acting is precisely defined by our belief in "experienced precision". This demand to quality and sustainability of the people involved and the products created cannot be "prescribed" - you have to experience it, in the true sense of the word.

We would like to develop

This means an ongoing development of all activities. We are creative, accept changes and accept new ideas and competitions without any prejudice. The aspiration for ongoing improvement shall help us to increase the quality of our products in behalf of our customers and employees.

Protection of the Environment and Health

Our ecosensitive way of thinking influences our daily actions as well as our awareness for working safety and health protection.

Everybody helps us to be successful

Our employees are partners who accept responsibility by doing excellent work in the familiar and professional surrounding and who contribute with their manpower to the economic success of the company and the security of their workstations.

Information and Communication

We all work together and not independently. Because of this, exchanging information, but also the own request for information is a duty.

Werner Beuerlein Company management

Küps, August 20th, 2010